Machinery Automation and Robotics (MAR) is pleased to announce the opening of its Queensland office

MAR, a fully owned Australian company, has enjoyed continued growth over the last 18 years as it continues to deliver systems and solutions that enable Australasian companies to better compete on the world market. Specialising in the design, build and integration of automated manufacturing and industrial solutions incorporating advanced robotics, MAR works closely with companies across a wide range of industries.

The opening of the Queensland office is a reflection of the work that MAR has completed in the Queensland market. Working closely with different market segments including the Meat Industry and the Food and Beverage sector, MAR has many major Australian clients based in Queensland.

The effects of the global economy, free trade agreements and the competitive nature of the manufacturing industry is forcing Australasian companies to be smarter in how they bring product to market. Demand for increased output, improved quality, short run manufacturing capabilities and comprehensive reporting and tracking is resulting in manufacturers investing in automation and robotics to provide them with the competitive edge that enables them to compete successfully both locally and internationally.
